We will travel to "The Hill", the Italian section of St. Louis where Yogi Berra and Joe Garagiola grew up. A guide specializing in this area will give us a tour where we will see a homemade ravioli making demonstration, receive bocce ball lessons and play in a private indoor club. We will visit historic St. Ambrose church and Yogi's childhood home, all before a delicious lunch at an Italian restaurant and have a little shopping time.

After that, we will tour the Magic Chef Mansion. This wonderful home was built by the man who invented the Magic Chef stove allowing the home baker to set a temperature on the oven and know it would remain at that temperature until turned off. After his death, and the death of his sister, the home fell into very poor condition. A few years ago it was purchased by the current owner and she remodeled it to the tune of $10,000,000.!!! That was on top of the purchase price of $1,000,000 we were told. Should be worth visiting.

We will depart from the South side of mall (near the Farmer's Market location) at 7:00 AM.
